Made by Board of County Commissioners in North End

The board of county commissioners has this week been engaged in the annual inspection of saloons, and on Wednesday in this city visited 48 for the purpose of seeing that the law is obeyed concerning the location and doorways of the licensed places.

In the majority of places it was found that the law is being complied with, but in one instance it was found that a side room was being used, and two or three doors which were maintained in opposition to the law were discovered. In regard to the side room it was claimed by the keeper that it was not used in connection with his business, but was in the nature of a storeroom. He was told that it is against the law and ordered to have it closed and locked and place a No Admittance sign thereon.

Those having illegal doors, opening into their homes or other places, were twarned to live up to the law.

GOAL IS SET

FOR 1,000 MEMBERS Membership Campaign Will Be Waged by Y. M. C. A. for Next Year.

From now until November 1, 1912. The 0th annual congress of the French-Americans of Connecticut opened at Stafford Springs Wednesday with about 200 delegates in attendance. The congress was held in St. Edwards hall and previously to the opening of business the delegates formed in procession and headed by the City band marched to St. Edwards Roman Catholic church where a solemn hig mass was celebrated by Rev. C. F. Bedard of Hartford, the sermon being preached by Rev. J. C. Matthews of Moosup.

The following officers were elected: sistem push for a membership gain with a twofold purpose in view. It is to bring in men who will profit by the advantages which the Association has to offer, and likewise to bring in those whom the Association needs paign somewhat in line with a continent-wide campaign which has been launched among the Associations to enlist a million men in the Asso-ciation, which will be nearly double the present membership in North Aurrica. The membership committee of the Norwich association, in presenting the matter for the endorsement of the board showed that the present mem-bership of the Norwich association is 197 regular members, 237 contributing, a total of 734. They suggested that this be increased to 1,000. They drew an libustration of what can be done. from Topeka, Kan, a city of 53,000 population, where the Association has 3,468 members. If Norwich should show the same proportion, the mem-bership of the local Association would be 1,700.

The board endorsed the proposition and the committee will now 20 ahead to work out a little more of the detail which this effort will call for.
